MARGARET TATTON-BROWN

(#1492 on the family tree)

May 2017

We are pleased to report a new website put up by potter, Margaret Tatton-Brown (#1492) in London. Our photograph shows Margaret at work in her studio. Every piece is handmade and fired to 1,260°C which means that they are not only strong but oven and dishwasher safe also.

Margaret's pots celebrate the happiness generated by the sharing of food with friends and much of her inspiration is drawn from the natural world, particularly that found in her garden.

A few examples of her work are shown here but for many more please go to her website www.margaret-tatton-brown.co.uk You will not be disappointed.
